

To Whom It May Concern:

University Health Service offers the COVID-19 test called the SARS-CoV-2 PCR assay, which is a real-time reverse transcriptase (RT) polymerase chain reaction (PCR) test intended for the qualitative detection of nucleic acid from the SARS-CoV-2 in nasopharyngeal swabs that are collected by a healthcare worker.

University Health Service also offers a SARS-CoV-2 Antibody assay that is intended for qualitative detection of total antibodies (including IgG and IgM) to SARS-CoV-2.

We use the following laboratories at the University of Michigan. These laboratories are certified by the Clinical Laboratory Improvement Amendments (CLIA) and accredited by the College of American Pathologists (CAP), which ensure that test results meet and exceed industry standards for clinical laboratory testing.
